The 2010 Monster Jam® award winners really know how to

RISE & SHINE

By Scott Douglass
SPEED announcer

On the night following the biggest event of the 2010 Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam® season, World Finals XI at Sam Boyd Stadium in Las Vegas, the sport's premier superstars put away the drivers' suits and put on their best suits to celebrate the year's phenomenal action at the annual awards ceremony. Awards and congratulations were proudly bestowed upon the Monster Jam heroes who most spectactularly rose to the occasion and who had shone the brightest in the last 12 months of Monster Jam. Of course, the stars of the night were the two newest world champions: Dennis Anderson, for claiming his fourth world title by driving Grave Digger® to the world finals racing championship, and his teammate Charlie Pauken, who put the icing on the cake of a legendary career by driving Monster Mutt® to his first championship, winning freestyle. Along with the crowning of the new world champions, several other moments were recognized as the sport's best for great performances. Here's a breakdown of all 2010's worthy winners:

ARENA FREESTYLE OF THE YEAR

Grave Digger® & Charlie Pauken
Rosemont, IL

Pauken can credit a stunningly strong line-up that included the likes of Nitro Circus for pushing him to this memorable freestyle win. Hitting stadium-style cross threads and getting huge Grave Digger air inside of the suburban Chicago arena showed the Windy City fans the type of action that would carry one of the best of all time to his first world title.

STADIUM FREESTYLE OF THE YEAR

Avenger & Jim Koehler
Minneapolis, MN

As soon as Mr. Excitement had finished this spectacular run, it was obvious to everyone who saw it that he had a shot for this award. The mean green machine had never been better or more sensational than he was in the Metrodome that night. Koehler's Avenger run in Minny breaks a stranglehold on this award that Grave Digger® and Maximum Destruction® had, Grave Digger having won Stadium Freestyle of the Year the previous three years, and Max D having won the honor from 2004 through 2006.

GUTS & GRIT AWARD

This award recognizes all of the Monster Jam superstars and their crew who went above and beyond what the fans may see on the track, and for that reason all the nominees listed below were recognized as winners of this award in 2010.

Tom Meents & the Maximum Destruction® crew: repaired their chassis and truck in less than a week between the Phoenix and Tacoma tour stops.

Alex Blackwell, Howie Dalton (Captain's Curse crew chief), and Neil Elliot: teamed up to execute an engine change during the show in Tacoma.

Tom Meents and Lionel Easler: helped prepare and repair the entire field of trucks in Baton Rouge.

Jim Koehler, Chris Bergeron and Team Scream: came back strong as ever after a shop fire.

HUMANITARIAN AWARD

Charles Benns, Pit-Bull
Frank Krmel, Blue Thunder®
John Seasock, Batman™ monster truck
Lupe Soza, Advance Auto Parts Grinder™
Kathy Wills, TNT

Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam is full of drivers, crew members, officials, and others who give so much back to their communities that in 2010 there were multiple Humanitarian Award winners. All of the above were equally celebrated for their tireless efforts in giving to others.

SAVE OF THE YEAR

Taz monster truck & Adam Anderson
Jacksonville, FL

It took one of the year's greatest start to finish freestyles to edge out Nitro Circus in Jacksonville, and it took 2008 freestyle world champion Adam Anderson to deliver it and claim the victory in a major Monster Jam moment. The young Anderson saved the Taz truck (shown below) from what appeared to be a certain rollover. He then continued on to fill the clock and take the win in front of the record-setting crowd of close to 72,000 people at Jacksonville Municipal Stadium.

CRASH MADNESS OF THE YEAR

Maximum Destruction® & Tom Meents
Cardiff, UK

It may seem that almost any Meents performance is deserving of a Crash Madness trophy, yet the massive carnage Maximum Destruction wrought in Wales at Millennium Stadium was off the charts, even for Tom.

SPORTSMAN OF THE YEAR

Chris Bergeron
Brutus

This award is among the most cherished by the drivers, as the winner is voted on by his peers. Chris (shown below taking his dog Brutus for a walk) has long been one of the most loved and respected drivers in the business, and 2010 was his most trying year ever. While overcoming off-the-track adversity, Bergeron showed us all his inner strength. Fighting through personal hardships, he continued to thrill and delight fans throughout North America in 2010, and was recognized by his Monster Jam peers with this honor.

DONUT OF THE YEAR

Brutus & Chris Bergeron
Detroit, MI

Always spectacular and always running on the ragged edge, Bergeron has developed into a donut specialist, especially on the big stadium courses where amazing monster donuts can be tricky and treacherous. In Detroit, Bergeron's mind-blowing cyclones were so awesome that even the fans were dizzy when Brutus finally stopped spinning.

WOW FACTOR OF THE YEAR

Nitro Circus & Cam McQueen
Jacksonville, FL

There was no doubt that this award was heading back to Calgary with the popular Canadian after Cam became the first driver to successfully land a back flip in a scored Monster Jam competition. Travis Pastrana devoted an entire episode of his popular TV show trying to back flip the Nitro Circus truck, yet it was his friend McQueen who pulled it off (shown right), making Cam possibly the only person in the world who can boast of pulling off an historic move before Pastrana could do it.

UTI TECHNICIAN OF THE YEAR

Tommy Powers, crew chief
Stone Crusher & Mopar Magic

Powers is a big reason for all of the Monster Trucks LTD team's (fielded by owner/driver Steve Sims) success. The veteran crew chief kept both Stone Crusher and Mopar Magic on the track and in top condition week in and week out.

STADIUM WHEELIE OF THE YEAR

Martial Law & Paul Strong
Minneapolis, MN

This veteran has been giving the big guns a run for their money lately, especially in freestyle, and he really brought his "A" game to the Metrodome (shown right) to take the honor in a field where there was a ton of sensational competition.

ARENA WHEELIE OF THE YEAR

Sheer Insanity & Ged Barcroft
Edmonton, Alberta

Barcroft was able to take this honor for his spectacular wheelie in one of the sport's most popular venues north of the border. Edmonton fans have come to expect the most phenomenal moves over the years, and Sheer Insanity delivered for them again in 2010.

"FAN"-TASTIC AWARD

George Balhan

A new award in 2010 that salutes a driver's devotion to the fans went to the superstar who created a whole new fan base in the sport. Balhan's mohawk nation can be seen in every city on the tour and now has a new truck, the Mohawk Warrior™, to cheer for. Balhan's love of the fans is evident in moments like when he literally gives a fan the shirt off of his back after a sensational run. These qualities have certainly made George one of the most popular personalities in the sport! (for more on Mohawk Warrior, turn to page 46)

RISING STAR OF THE YEAR

Jeremy Slifko
Backdraft

The sport's 2009 Rookie of the Year continued his rocket rise to the top in 2010. The enthusiastic second generation superstar showed his stuff again this season, equally as spectacular in arenas and the sport's biggest stadiums. The fans of Monster Jam shouldn't expect to see the heat cool down around young Slifko and Backdraft (shown right) anytime in the near future!

2010 RACING CHAMPION

Grave Digger® & Dennis Anderson
Las Vegas, NV

The two biggest names in the sport and the two winningest drivers in World Finals racing history, Anderson and Tom Meents, had never met in a World Finals championship race until the 11th event at Sam Boyd Stadium. With every fan standing, taking sides, and loudly cheering on their favorite, the Grave Digger creator vanquished his arch rival and Maximum Destruction to add the 2010 racing championship trophy to the race titles he won in 2004 and 2006.

2010 FREESTYLE CHAMPION

Monster Mutt® & Charlie Pauken
Las Vegas, NV

Before March of 2010 Pauken had been called by some "the greatest driver never to have won a world championship". That term cannot ever be applied to Pauken again after he rocked Las Vegas in Monster Mutt with a performance for the ages to win by a surprisingly comfortable margin in the scoring of the judges over George Balhan and defending champion Damon Bradshaw, claiming the trophy that so many believed he would eventually win.

So here's a big congratulations to all of the award winners in 2010, and now we begin the action packed, thrilling process again as we all get to watch the great performances live this year that will be honored at the 2011 awards ceremony. The next award winning performance might be just moments away, so watch closely and cheer loudly!

EXTREME AIR OF THE YEAR

Shock Therapy & Jon Zimmer
Houston, TX

This is an award that all the drivers want to win, considering the major role big air plays in the greatest Monster Jam freestyle runs! Zimmer and Shock Therapy seemed to use all of Reliant Stadium with a leap that combined amazing length, height, and hang time. It was a year of stunts like this (shown above) that propelled Shock Therapy into its very first Monster Jam World Finals™ appearance in 2010.

ROOKIE OF THE YEAR

Ryan Anderson
Monster Mutt®

One of Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam's most coveted awards goes to the latest member of the sport's "First Family" to make his mark. An award that has been won in the recent past by the likes of Damon Bradshaw, Jeremy Slifko, and Kristy Edge was clearly Ryan's in 2010 as the youngster jumped into the sport at the highest level and started turning in winning performances right off the bat, including huge freestyles in Oakland and El Paso that had observers already wondering just how great he will become.

Monster Mutt®

and the Dog Pack

by Brian Rog

A true backyard watch dog, the two-toned brown beast, Monster Mutt®, molded after a 1950 Mercury street rod and complete with a large tail, playful tongue and droopy ears, made its official Monster Jam® debut on January 18, 2003 at the Minneapolis Metrodome. Boasting a howling 1500 horsepower Merlin engine and four 66" paws, this 10,000 pound beast is not your typical canine.

Since its debut, Monster Mutt has experienced many changes. The idea unfolded as a fun twist on the customary monster truck: taking a standard reinforced, high impact metal frame and outfitting it with a canine body. The concept went into design, and the design into production; soon, the time came to reveal the mutt to Monster Jam fans across North America.

Despite much skepticism behind its forecasted success, Monster Mutt's 2003 Monster Jam debut was an instant hit, converting many non-believers. Seeking to establish its place in the Monster Jam lineup, Monster Mutt claimed its first racing win during that first appearance. Mutt continued proving the critics wrong two weeks later, during its third appearance, by adding another trophy to the case and registering its first ever freestyle victory. The beast proved it needed no taming; fans from all over respected both the look and attitude Monster Mutt brought to the track.

> "Despite much skepticism behind its forecasted success, Monster Mutt's 2003 Monster Jam debut was an instant hit."

Monster Mutt's first international trip also proved victorious. This three-day contest at Edmonton's Skyreach Centre (now called Rexall Place) set the stage for a long and prosperous journey. Rookie trainer, Todd Frolick, entered the weekend with a solid game plan in mind: hit every jump, pick good lines, and keep the fans on their feet. Doing just that, the canine locked in two impressive freestyle victories and two race wins, claiming the weekend freestyle and racing titles. Though having raced a limited season, Monster Mutt was finely tuned and ready to take a bite out of the competition in the coming year.

Monster Mutt gets HUGE air in the Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam World Finals XI.

Monster Mutt began 2004 ready to compete in a full Monster Jam season and with universal confidence of its success. Nearly a year after mutt's inaugural international victory, the weekend of January 10, 2004 saw Mutt take Dallas,TX fans by storm, winning the opening night of racing and posting a perfect score of 30 in freestyle. This perfection was accomplished by flying high off obstacles, executing several wheelies, and closing the run with a reverse jump on a van stack. For the remainder of the weekend, mutt shattered the competition, going three for three in freestyle to claim the title, and adding a racing win as well. This event also marked the first victory with new trainer and freestyle master, Bobby Zee. Shortly thereafter, Monster Mutt fans started appearing everywhere to get a glimpse of the new dog in town.

After posting reputable numbers in 2004, and continuing to strengthen its racing and freestyle foundation, a new opportunity for Monster Mutt presented itself as toy giant Mattel® partnered up with Monster Jam to produce the first-ever Monster Mutt replica die cast monster truck toy. Currently, Monster Mutt ranks in the top five most popular licensed Monster Jam products.

Continuing to hone its canine strength, the 2005 season proved to be the pinnacle of the mutt's great career. Monster Mutt registered a combined total of 24 racing and freestyle wins, some of which included three-day win streaks. In 2005, Monster Jam welcomed four European stops to the schedule. Competing in these four events, Monster Mutt won once in freestyle and once in racing. As a testament to mutt's international success, fans worldwide began endorsing the extremely unique canine, and venues continued selling out of the popular Monster Mutt floppy ear hats.

Since its inception, Monster Mutt has competed in over 156 events worldwide, 36 of which have been international. Throughout its eight-year run, Monster Mutt has been under the direction of 13 different trainers and has brought home over 30 freestyle victories and nearly 35 race wins.

In 2007, Monster Mutt welcomed a new puppy to the pack with Monster Mutt dalmatian. This dog has the same body as it's brother Monster Mutt but has a coat of white fur with black spots. Similar to its pal, Monster Mutt dalmatian possesses floppy ears, a long tail, and the fun mutt tongue.

Monster Mutt dalmatian made its official Monster Jam debut in Houston, Texas on January 6, 2007, but its first racing and freestyle victories didn't come until the weekend of February 2, 2007 in Tallahassee, Florida. Doing everything in their power to win, the dalmatian and rookie driver Candice Jolly went two for two in the racing competition and locked in a freestyle victory. With Jolly holding the reigns, Monster Mutt dalmatian added stability to the dog pound, alerting the competition that there is another canine prepared to sink its teeth into the winner's circle. These wins also marked the first of many victories for Jolly. Since its entry into Monster Jam, Monster Mutt dalmatian has registered six freestyle victories and 19 race wins, and has competed in over 50 events worldwide.

Competing in four Advanced Auto Parts Monster Jam World Finals, Monster Mutt dalmatian has yet to secure a racing or freestyle championship, however the experience acquired through its journey is enough to lock in a title in the near future. But for canine pal Monster Mutt that future is now; a veteran to the Advanced Auto Parts Monster Jam World Finals, The Charlie Pauken driven mutt led the team to their first major championship. this past year.

In 2007, Monster Mutt welcomed a new dog to the pack with Monster Mutt® dalmation.

Making one of its strongest showings in eight years at the Advanced Auto Parts Monster Jam World Finals, Monster Mutt took home its first world freestyle championship under the skilled guidance of Charlie Pauken. Following a three-year hiatus, Pauken's reunion with Monster Mutt confirmed there were no hard feelings. With many fellow contenders pushing the limits and posting remarkable runs throughout the finals, mutt displayed no hesitation to bury the competition.

"The obstacles were bigger than ever, so I needed to lay out a good plan or else it could trip you up out there."

Monster Mutt's freestyle run was nothing short of spectacular. Entering the floor with a vengeance, the truck instantly hit a massive jump, sailing some 70' in distance and 30' in height. Disgruntled after coming so close to a victory in prior Advanced Auto Parts Monster Jam World Finals, mutt did everything in its power to keep its paws on the ground. With several remarkable saves and aerial spectacles, mutt entertained all in attendance and captured the highest numbers of the night from the judges. Later that night, Monster Mutt was crowned the 2010 Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam World Finals Freestyle Champion.

Pauken takes us through his journey to the top. "Man, my freestyle run was kind of a blur," stated Pauken. "The first thing I wanted to do was come out and go big. To get the ball rolling, my plan was to go for the center hill and hit the thing as hard as I could. My thoughts were, if this thing [Monster Mutt] holds together after that, let's just start whacking away at it."

Pulling together all he had, Pauken ended up collecting more air than anticipated. "Initially, I wanted to clear it, not trip it up, and be done", mentioned Pauken. "It turns out I actually got a lot more air than I expected. When I came through, I was ecstatic the truck was still holding together. The crew did a great job; I'm only as good as the machine. In the end, I got in a donut and kept riding the thing out."

Pauken's pre-show routine really helped him gain the upper hand on his opponents. "I've always committed myself to freestyle," stated Pauken. "I walked the track earlier in the day trying to get my line down. The obstacles were bigger than ever, so I needed to lay out a good plan or else it could trip you up out there. There is nothing better than winning an Advanced Auto Parts Monster Jam World Finals freestyle title."

As the excitement was building for the 2011 Monster Jam season, the Monster Mutt team welcomed another new hound to the pack, the Monster Mutt rottweiler. Similar to its pack mates, "rotty" trots around the Monster Jam tour with some identical body features, but don't be fooled; the rottweiler is a distinguished two-toned black and brown canine. Monster Jam sure is excited to welcome another hound to the tour. Keep an eye out for the new dog in town, but you better not get too close, because this big beast might bite.

GEARING UP

ADVANCE AUTO PARTS GEARS UP FOR A SECOND YEAR AS TITLE SPONSOR OF MONSTER JAM!

BY: KAZIK ZAJDA

You don't have to look very far to find one of the biggest fans of Monster Jam®; since 1997, Advance Auto Parts has been one of the sport's biggest sponsors. Over the past fourteen years, this partnership has just grown stronger, with Advance Auto Parts becoming a national sponsor in 2004 and becoming the title sponsor of the tour in 2010. In that time, Advance Auto Parts has done a lot to encourage the sport by giving fans fun and interactive ways to get the full Monster Jam experience. The first of these enhancements, the Grave Digger Experience, was added in 2007.

Advance Auto Parts knew it was every Monster Jam fan's dream to sit behind the wheel of a 10,000 pound monster truck, and they knew a lot of Monster Jam fans would love to be in the driver's seat of the black and green wrecking machine, Grave Digger, just like Dennis Anderson. What they came up with was one of the biggest and baddest interactive displays ever to fit in a hauler. The Grave Digger Experience gave fans a chance to sit in the driver's seat of Grave Digger XXI. The drive simulator with actual in-cab footage provides a realistic feeling of being a Monster Jam superstar. Naturally, this was a huge hit with the fans. After seeing how well the Grave Digger Experience was received, AAP wanted to create a second interactive display for fans of all ages to enjoy.

The Grinder Pit Party, which debuted at World Finals XI in Las Vegas this past year, takes fan interaction to the next level. Fans have an opportunity to take photos against a green screen, get custom Grinder airbrush tattoos, play the Monster Jam video game and race remote control Traxxas trucks in the miniature Monster Jam race stadium. Fans nationwide can compare their race times on www.grinderpitparty.com, which makes for some awesome bragging rights.

Being the huge fans they are, Advance Auto Parts wanted to be a part of the action on the track as well, and so searched the Monster Jam nation for a truck that could bear their name. After looking at all of the trucks in the fleet, they found one that was tearing it up at shows all over the country, El Toro Loco. That lead to a sponsorship in 2008 and 2009, at the Monster Jam World Finals. After getting a taste of sponsoring a truck on the biggest stage two years in a row, Advance Auto Parts knew they wanted a truck to call their own. On December 5, 2009, Advance Auto Parts Grinder was debuted in Minneapolis, MN. Driven by past World Finals Freestyle Champion and El Toro Loco driver Lupe Soza, Grinder was one of the trucks that shined in 2010, taking a top three finish in nine different Monster Jam events. With one of the fastest double down times in Vegas, Grinder showed fans that it was a truck that was going to be around for a while.

With the great success the Grinder race team had in the 2010 season, Advance Auto Parts looked to expand their team. In 2011 Advance Auto Parts welcomed two more trucks to the Grinder fleet. With two-time World Finals racing champion John Seasock and Monster Jam veteran Frank Krmel behind the wheel, the Grinder Race team looks to dominate in 2011.

Not content to simply rule the track, Advance Auto Parts has also used their partnership with Monster Jam to help those in need. In 2010, Advance Auto Parts began a national campaign to Help Crush Diabetes. They partnered with the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation to raise awareness of the disease at Monster Jam events from coast to coast. Inspired by the cause, AAP has come up with new, creative ways to help raise money for the disease. For instance, AAP sold Help Crush Diabetes magnets at several Monster Jam events that fans could sign and place on crush cars that were used in the shows. Additionally, at the inaugural Philadelphia Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam show, they auctioned off a 600 lb monster truck tire that was signed by members of the Philadelphia Eagles NFL football team and Monster Jam superstars.

to cure type 1 diabetes, an autoimmune disease that strikes children and adults suddenly and lasts a lifetime. Since 1994, Advance Auto Parts has raised more than $25 million for JDRF, including a record-breaking campaign in 2010 which raised more than $4.3 million for diabetes research. In 2009, Advance Auto Parts was named JDRF's number one corporate partner. With corporate partners like Advance Auto Parts, the thousands of Advance Team Members, customers and vendors, and with support from people like Lupe Soza, JDRF is getting closer to a cure every day.

Soza talks about working in this atmosphere of giving: "It's great driving a truck for a partner like Advance Auto Parts that really uses the partnership with Monster Jam as a way to help with such a worthy cause...Every hour of every day a person is diagnosed with type 1 diabetes and JDRF is an organization that is helping to find a cure. When that day comes that a cure is found, it's going to make it easier for a lot of families. I try and do anything I can do to help with the campaign because I know how serious the disease is."

Soza and the Advance Auto Parts Team continue to assist JDRF in raising awareness for the disease, and new team member John Seasock is excited to be a part of the charitable action. "Seeing everything Advance Auto Parts has done with JDRF and knowing their history of getting involved with charitable organizations, I know this is a perfect fit for me. I'm excited to join the Grinder Race Team because with Advance Auto Parts backing I know I'm going to get to help a lot of people in need," said Seasock.

Advance's Director of Sponsorships and Events, Jamie Woods, speaks highly of their newest team members, "Advance Auto Parts is thrilled to have three Grinder trucks and great drivers on our truck team in 2011. Lupe, John and Frank are all wonderful ambassadors for the sport and truly represent all of the Monster Jam fans who work hard every day to take care of their families and give back to their communities."

From the Grave Digger Experience and Grinder Pit Party to the now three-truck Grinder Race Team, Advance Auto Parts is more involved than ever in Monster Jam. In so many ways, Advance Auto Parts continues to enhance the sport we all love. At the end of the day, they are giving fans a better Monster Jam experience because they themselves are some of the biggest fans of the sport.

WANT DESTRUCTION? TAKE A NEW PATH...

In November 2010, the biggest name in video game publishing, Activision®, thrilled both young and old with the third installment of the video game series Monster Jam: Path of Destruction™. With new game modes and more authentic action than ever before, Monster Jam: Path of Destruction is the best Monster Jam video game ever.

Monster Jam fans spoke and Activision listened: fans wanted to compete in authentic stadium events and control the trucks so that they handle like the real thing. Monster Jam: Path of Destruction has made big steps towards authenticity with all-new software and more realistic environments.

Authentic Monster Jam events like freestyle and stadium races now follow a more true-to-life path with more realistic freestyle scoring and stadium race brackets. Of course, there are also a bunch of great bonus events like circuit racing and team racing which allow monster trucks to race together on a single track with exciting results. Power and destruction are back with 28 officially licensed Monster Jam monster trucks including fan favorites Grave Digger®, Maximum Destruction® and Grinder™. Players can also create and customize their own monster trucks with thousands of combinations of decals, body styles, colors, and accessories.

Eight stadiums from the Monster Jam circuit, including Reliant Stadium, Lucas Oil Stadium, and the Metrodome, help bring the live atmosphere to the living room like never before with explosive truck introductions, event pyrotechnics, and a roaring crowd. In single player career mode, the goal is the same as for real-life drivers: to gain experience by winning events and impressing the crowd with huge air and crazy stunts, then rise through the ranks of competitors to ultimately battle against the best at the Monster Jam World Finals℠ at Sam Boyd Stadium. Head-to-head multiplayer modes take all that heart-pounding competition to another level entirely.

Scott Douglass, the voice of Monster Jam, is back, but this time he's joined by Dennis Anderson, driver of Grave Digger, George Balhan, driver of Mohawk Warrior™, Lupe Soza, driver of Grinder, and Tom Meents, driver of Maximum Destruction.

All of these superstars lending their voices to the new game add to the authenticity and fun, and it sounds like they had fun, too. "It was a great experience voicing over the game," said Dennis Anderson. "It was also great to be able to play the game in early development, and see that in the final stages, they listened to some of my and my son's suggestions. This game is truly the best one so far, and has everything for the purist, the casual fan, and for kids. They did their best to cover all levels of gamers."

Monster Jam: Path of Destruction is available on Wii™, Nintendo DS™, the Xbox 360® from Microsoft, PlayStation®3, and PSP® (PlayStation® Portable) system. The new game promises to be the ultimate monster truck experience, complete with unprecedented realism and all-out destruction. The game is available now at major retailers where video games are sold, including Wal-Mart, GameStop, Best Buy, Target, and Toys "R" Us.

RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY
Center for Elephant Conservation

The Asian elephant is a revered and respected member of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey® family and has always been a symbol of The Greatest Show On Earth.

My family has been the trustee of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey for more than 40 years, and with that, there is a great responsibility and an exceptional privilege to be the stewards of the largest herd of Asian elephants in the Western Hemisphere.

While it is an honor to share these magnificent elephants with you, we also want you to know that the Asian elephant is an endangered species. It is vital to their continued survival for each of us to actively participate in and to fund conservation research and education programs. That is why in 1995, we established the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Center for Elephant Conservation®.

Located in Central Florida, the Ringling Bros. Center is a research, reproduction and retirement facility where we've continued to successfully demonstrate our commitment to Asian elephants. The millions of people like you who attend our circuses are helping to save the species since a portion of each ticket is contributed solely to support the Ringling Bros. Center for Elephant Conservation and its global conservation programs.

Today, thanks to the efforts of many conservationists and now your family, there is hope in the race to keep this majestic species on the planet for generations to come.

BUILDING A MONSTER TRUCK

FROM THE GROUND UP

BY JOHN IGRAS

CHASSIS DESIGN

The chassis of a monster truck begins life as a 3-D computer model. Designers and engineers can rotate the model on the screen and look at it from any angle. By analyzing it in this stage, they can easily make changes to ensure the chassis and roll cage will keep the driver safe as well as withstand the abuse of an insane Monster Jam® freestyle week in and week out.

CUTTING & BENDING

Accuracy is critical when building a monster truck. Steel tubing starts out as perfectly straight 24-foot long sections. The tubes are carefully loaded into a state-of-the-art CRD Tube Laser and, using the specifications from the 3-D design, cut to within thousandths of an inch, making every piece perfect. Another computer-controlled machine bends the tubes to exactly the right angles.

WELDING

Raw materials start to resemble a monster truck as the pieces are put together. First, a frame called a jig is made to hold the pieces of tubing in perfect alignment while they are welded together. Various types of welding equipment melt the pieces of tubing together with welding wire, making them into one; when the pieces are joined, they can be much stronger than any piece by itself.

FABRICATION

There is still a lot of work to do. Fabricators must make and add tabs and mounts for everything (such as the engine and transmission) to connect to, and then, all of the major components of a monster truck are installed, including the shocks and steering. Fabricators make sure every part fits perfectly before it is taken completely apart for the next step. Here a crewmember is installing a mounting tab for the Lexan® that separates the driver from the engine.

POWDER-COATING

Next, the complete chassis, and many of the individual parts, are taken to a special shop where they are cleaned to be free from dirt or oil. Powder coating is like painting, but it is applied to the chassis and parts dry, like chalk dust. Also, powder coating contains no harsh chemicals and is much more environmentally friendly than paint. It is then baked on in large ovens at over 385 degrees to make it look good and be durable enough for the chaos of Monster Jam.

ASSEMBLY

After powder coating, crews begin final assembly on the chassis and install all of the major components like the engine, transmission, transfer case, 4-link bars, axles, shocks and steering components. Before the truck can fire up for the first time, the crew still needs to install all of the electrical system, batteries, remote ignition interrupter, gauges, pedals and brakes. Additionally, a fire-suppression system and custom-fit seat are added to keep the driver safe.

BODY DESIGN

Ideas for a new monster truck usually start out in a sketchbook. As the concept progresses, the designs are mocked up on a computer to create a realistic rendering of what the truck will look like. Even at this early stage, the designers are considering things such as how the body will fit on the chassis, the driver's visibility and how it will be constructed to survive the abuse of a rollover. Shown here is a sketch of the Captain's Curse® body design.

BODY CONSTRUCTION

The first body for a monster truck never actually gets mounted on a chassis. Sometimes they are made from scratch; some are made from computer models, while others are real production-type bodies molded from vehicles off the showroom floor. In any case, they are used to make a mold for the fiberglass bodies that actually go on the truck. This is the first Iron Man™ prototype body.

PAINT & GRAPHICS

Most monster trucks feature a combination of paint and printed graphics (think: big stickers). Printed graphics are easy to reproduce and will be exactly the same every time, especially the logos. If part of the body is damaged in a rollover, part of the graphic can be replaced and it will always match. Paint works better for special effects such as flames or covering large areas with the same color. Here the graphics are being installed on the new Dragon's Breath™ monster truck.

INSTALLATION

A typical monster truck body is made up of only eight pieces: the hood, the cab sides, roof, cowl, two bedsides, and a tailgate. The whole body weighs just about 150 pounds and can be installed by as few as two crewmembers. About 20 bolts hold the fiberglass body onto the chassis. Other race teams often pitch in and help one another, like during the installation of the Spider-Man™ body in this photo.

MONSTER TRUCK FACTS:

-THE CHASSIS OF A TYPICAL MONSTER TRUCK IS MADE UP OF 180 PIECES OF TUBING WITH 45 BENDS AND 150 ADDITIONAL PIECES OF CUSTOM FABRICATED STEEL.

-WELDING THE CHASSIS TOGETHER ADDS 45 POUNDS OF WEIGHT.

-13 POUNDS OF POWDER IS USED TO COAT ONE CHASSIS.

-WIRING A MONSTER TRUCK USES ABOUT 500 FEET OF WIRE.

-BUILDING A COMPLETE MONSTER TRUCK WITH A STANDARD PICKUP BODY TAKES ABOUT 880 MAN-HOURS, PLUS THE TIME TO DESIGN THE GRAPHICS AND TRACK DOWN ALL THE PARTS.

The story of how an instant legend was born with George Balhan and Mohawk Warrior

by Spencer Huard

With an old pair of hair clippers, a couple bottles of hairspray and a lot of patience, veteran Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam® driver George Balhan's bold hairstyle choice in 2003 would lead him to become the charter member of the mohawk nation.

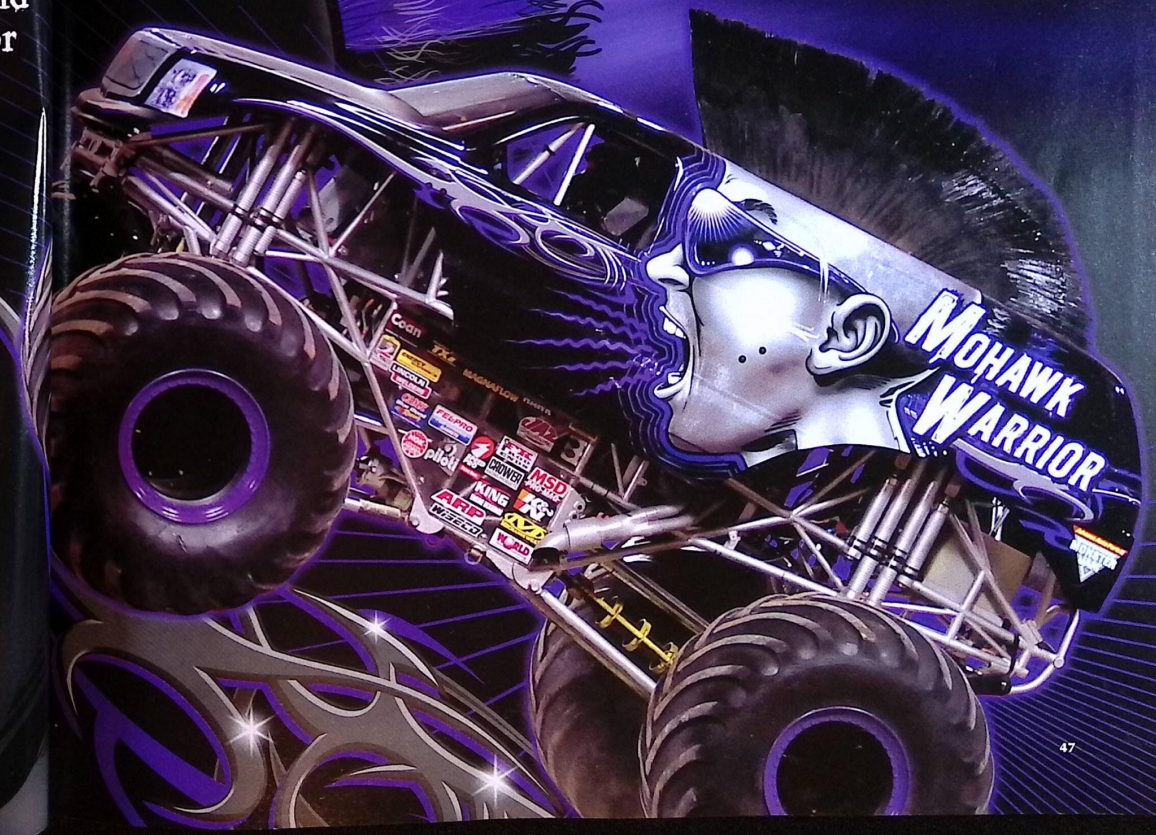
Fast forward seven years, with the neon lights of the Las Vegas strip glowing in the background, a sold-out crowd at UNLV's Sam Boyd Stadium witnessed history. Balhan had just placed second in the freestyle world championship but was still pacing around nervously. What he was about to debut next would be the result of 18 long months of designing, building and testing an all new monster truck created for his hardcore and extremely loyal fans. He wanted this moment to be special.

"The fans are what makes this sport so amazing; they eat, sleep and breathe Monster Jam, and now they even dress and cut their hair like me," says Balhan. The mohawk nation, which started out as a grass roots group of Balhan fans whose members sport big mohawks at Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam events across the country, has grown to epic proportions over the past few years, and this year, the mohawk nation is about to have a new leader. "I'm ready to pay them back for their loyalty," Balhan says as he tightens up his racing harness.

That night, Balhan raced down Sam Boyd Stadium's Thunder Alley in an all-new truck called Mohawk Warrior™. "This truck was made for the new generation [of Monster Jam] fan who maybe listens to a different type of music or dresses different from the mainstream population," says Balhan. "It's really loud, has attitude and represents the alternative youth of today."

"It's important to have your own style," Balhan says, and style is something the Mohawk Warrior has plenty of. The Monster Jam artists dug deep to come up with an innovative idea: their vision was to incorporate a five foot tall mohawk made out of specialized fiberglass-laced broom bristles sticking straight out of the roof of a monster truck. A giant image of a punk rocker was plastered on both sides to complete the look. "The first time I saw the design, I knew the fans were going to love it," Balhan says. "It's so different than anything done before."

Wherever Balhan and Mohawk Warrior go, they always seem to draw a huge crowd. If you walk through any Monster Jam Party in the Pits, the Mohawk Warrior compound is a pretty happening spot. With a huge stereo blasting out the latest in alternative and punk rock, Balhan can usually be found relaxing on a couch and signing autographs with a few lovely ladies by his side. "That is the only way I roll," says Balhan. "We like to do it up big; we have the TVs in the truck, the stereo pumping and the neon lights glowing."



In the past several years, Balhan's loyal mohawk nation has grown exponentially, and it's not uncommon to see dozens of fans with mohawks and white t-shirts walking around Monster Jam pit parties across the country, especially if the Mohawk Warrior monster truck is competing. "I was amazed the first time I saw a young man come up to ask for my autograph with his own black mohawk and white tank top. I said, 'Now this guy is part of the mohawk nation,' and it just grew from there."

There is no doubt that Mohawk Warrior turns heads the minute it enters a stadium. But this truck was not just built to look good, it was built to win. "Our first priority is to win racing and freestyle competitions. It's one thing to just look good, but we want the whole package!" says Balhan, and, in fact, the Mohawk Warrior monster truck has got it: with a 540 cubic inch Merlin motor pumping out over 1500 horsepower, the Mohawk Warrior is built for both speed and agility. Not satisfied with his runner-up finish in the 2010 Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam World Finals Freestyle Championship, Balhan will be shooting to put the all new Mohawk Warrior truck in this year's winner's circle at Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam events around the world.

In November of 2010, Mohawk Warrior made another debut, but this time was much different: it is now in virtual format in the all new and extremely popular Monster Jam: Path of Destruction™ video game. Mohawk Warrior was picked to be one of the eight boss trucks that players would have to compete against in order to advance levels. George Balhan was also approached to be one of the celebrity driver voices used to guide players through the game. "It's so cool to see my own kids play the game and drive Mohawk Warrior. It's really amazing just how realistic the truck is, [and] it's great that fans have an opportunity to experience what it is like to be behind the wheel of a monster truck."

"The gloves are off, the mohawk is standing tall, the fans are behind it, it is just a perfect fit."

Whether smashing through gargantuan bus stacks in freestyle competition or blasting its way to huge racing victories, Mohawk Warrior is changing the way fans everywhere look at monster trucks. For the 2011 Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam season, it looks as if the bar has been raised once more, as Balhan plans to come out swinging in his all new Mohawk Warrior monster truck: "The gloves are off, the mohawk is standing tall, the fans are behind it, it is just a perfect fit."

One thing is for sure in 2011, if you want to find Balhan and the Mohawk Warrior at any Advance Auto Parts Monster Jam, all you have to do is listen for the loud music blaring, the neon lights glowing and that giant black mohawk standing tall on top of one of the coolest monster trucks ever created.

MAKING K'NEXIONS

The new Monster Jam® building sets from K'NEX® hit the retail shelves in the summer of 2010 and are quickly proving to be a favorite among Monster Jam fans worldwide. The exciting new toy line offers fans an opportunity to build Grave Digger®, Maximum Destruction® and all their favorite Monster Jam monster trucks at home. We caught up with Joe Smith, K'NEX Senior Vice President for Product Development, in Hatfield, PA to get the inside scoop on what exactly goes into creating these authentic Monster Jam building sets.

What are some of the cool features of the Monster Jam® monster truck building sets from K'NEX?

We've designed the monster trucks to be as accurate as possible while still working with all of our existing K'NEX pieces. The labels complete the look, and the addition of a new K'NEX spring/shock really brings the Monster Jam action to life.

What is the most difficult aspect of designing and developing these building sets?

By far the most challenging aspect of designing these lines of Monster Jam monster trucks was getting the aesthetic just right. We spent months designing different scales of monster trucks to determine what the best product was for the best price. In fact, we created over 60 different tire designs alone just to make sure we got it right with the first truck off the line.

Where do you gather your ideas and inspiration from when creating the various Monster Jam building sets?

Where else but by going to as many Monster Jam events as possible. For our introduction to the brand, we actually got Grave Digger to come to our offices in Hatfield, PA for a kick-off meeting. You should have seen everyone's face as they came into work that day and saw Grave Digger parked in the executive parking spaces. By lunchtime, everyone working within the area had heard the truck, and then they all came to K'NEX to take pictures with Digger.

How long does it take to create and produce a single Monster Jam building set?

Typically, we spend about one year from initial concept to final product on the shelf, but with these Monster Jam sets, we only had 6 months because everyone wanted them so badly.

How do the different building pieces play into the design aspect? How often do you have to build sets?

We build sets every day, hundreds of sets every day. With our K'NEX system, we try to utilize the existing parts to the greatest extent that we can. When we run into a situation where we need a new part designed, the designers will draw the part by hand, and then our excellent engineers will interpret that part design into a piece that is moldable and cost effective by using various CAD design software packages.

What is the best part of your job?

The best part of our jobs is the process of conceptualizing and creating a new toy, going through the design process to make it a practi item for us to sell, and then to see it the store shelf and watch a kid pick it and tell his or her parent that they've " to have it."

What advice can you give to Monster Jam fans who would like to design toys?

Use whatever you can to convey your ideas to other people. Whether it's through drawings, models, or even creative writing, a designer's job is to sell their ideas to the broadest audience possible. Most of the K'NEX design team members are trained Industrial Designers who went to college to become professional product designers. In fact, there are a couple of dedicated Toy Design degrees that colleges offer today, something that was not offered when I went to school.

Where can fans get their hands on the Monster Jam building sets from K'NEX?

Your favorite toy retailers, both in store and on the web, and you can always get all our K'NEX toys anytime at www.knex.com.

GRAVE DIGGER®

Grave Digger® is one truck that can't seem to be buried by the competition. If given a chance, the truck will dig any contender a grave. "Bad To The Bone" plays loudly anytime this 1950 Chevy Panel Van tours the gravesites of its past victims. You will definitely feel the wrath of this green and purple grim-reaping machine. With four Monster Jam World Finals™ championships under its belt, beware of full moons and tombstones, because Grave Digger is lurking just around the corner ready to strike.

MAXIMUM DESTRUCTION®

Even with its futuristic design, Maximum Destruction® didn't just appear from a time machine. But make no mistake, Max D™ is definitely dominating the present. The orange and silver paint job coupled with a low-to-the-ground, aerodynamic body style and roll-friendly frame might be a key part of its success. In racing and freestyle, Max D's foes are left in the past. Living up to its name, Maximum Destruction has won eight world titles and is waiting to destroy its next competition.

CREATOR OF CHAOS

U.S. AIR FORCE AFTERBURNER®

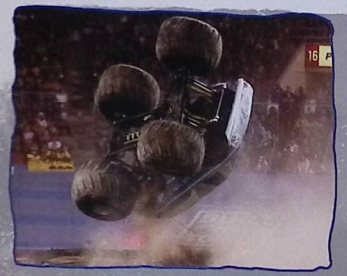
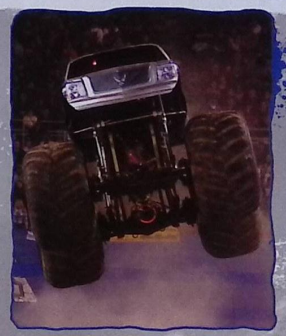
Prepare to launch with the U.S. Air Force Afterburner®. No stranger to flight, Afterburner can often be seen in the air when it's not doing damage on the track. Always a favorite with the crowds and looking to excel in every endeavor, Afterburner proudly represents the United States Air Force. This blue and silver 2006 GMC Raptor won the Monster Jam World Finals℠ freestyle championship in 2009. Standby for takeoff in 3, 2, 1…it's going to go sky high! Who knows where it will land next?





Driver:

Damon Bradshaw

BATMAN™

The Bat-Signal is on! And out of the dark corners of the Batcave emerges the Dark Knight, Batman. When he's not protecting Gotham City from its sinister foes, the Caped Crusader is tearing it up in Monster Jam! A back-to-back Monster Jam World Finals℠ racing champion in 2007 and 2008, Batman is a custom concept truck featuring fire-breathing engines and a pair of wings in the back.

CAPED CRUSADER

BLUE THUNDER®

The calm before the storm doesn't last long when Blue Thunder® hits the track. The Ford F-Series Super Duty is closing in on a decade of rampaging destruction and shows no signs of slowing down. With lightning bolts covering its body, Blue Thunder is bringing inclement weather to Monster Jam. Opponents should seek shelter when Blue Thunder is in the forecast. It has qualified for the Monster Jam World Finals℠ every year, but has yet to win a championship. Regardless, Blue Thunder is a force to be reckoned with. The skies are dark, clouds hover above, the sirens are blaring – prepare to be struck down by Blue Thunder!

Drivers:

Todd LeDuc

Captain's Curse®

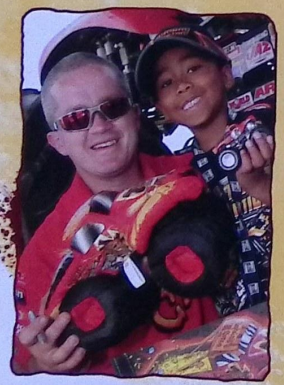
AAAARGH MATEYS! Captain's Curse® traveled across the seven seas to invade a show near you. See one performance from this swashbuckling truck and you'll be HOOKED! This 1941 Willys is a mean competitor and in 2007, the truck docked in Las Vegas to make its debut at the Monster Jam World Finals℠ and was crowned the Monster Jam World Finals freestyle champion! The competition is CURSED when going up against this pirate truck, and will soon have all the land lovers walking the plank.



Driver:

Alex Blackwell

Walk the Plank

El Toro Loco®

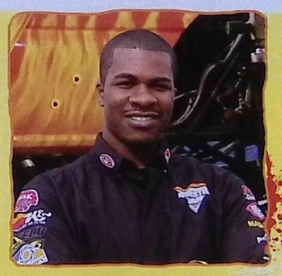
You might be taking part in your own running of the bulls if you're caught wearing red by El Toro Loco®. A little advice, this beast is best to view from afar, so steer clear. In 2001, the custom-built bull was unleashed in front of a crowd in Lafayette, Louisiana and to no surprise kicked up dirt in a real threatening display. With a set of horns to ram the competition, El Toro Loco captured the 2004 Monster Jam World Finals™ freestyle championship.



Drivers:

Mark McDonald

Chuck Werner

Bari Musawwir

Joey Parnell

Advance Auto Parts GRINDER

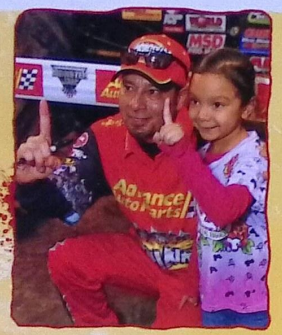
Smash it up and spit it out, seems to be the motto of Advance Auto Parts Grinder™ when it's out pulverizing the competition. Grinding its gears and hammering its way through the track in a Ford F-150 Supercab, Grinder is decked out in red and white with a silver nameplate. The sound of twisting metal on the course is only natural when Grinder's around.



Drivers:

Lupe Soza

Frank Krmel

John Seasock

GROUND TO A POLISH

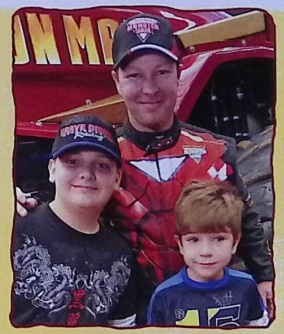
Possessing the superhuman strength of its namesake, Iron Man is engineered for Monster Jam success. Designed by experts, this monster truck has all the weapons it needs to satisfy the masses. Coated in its red and yellow "armor," the Iron Man truck is sure to be another triumph for Stark Industries.



Drivers:

Lee O'Donnell

Scott Buetow

MADUSA®

Stare at your own risk. There may not be any snakes involved but Madusa's ability to turn her opponents into stone – or just leave them in her dust, is very real. A previous Monster Jam World Finals℠ champion in both the racing and freestyle events, Madusa is the only female to win a championship title. She is all the rage in a Ford F-150 Supercrew. This stars-and-stripes covered truck proves that the beauty and the beast can be one in the same.

Driver:
Madusa

Bewdre of Dog

MONSTER MUTT®

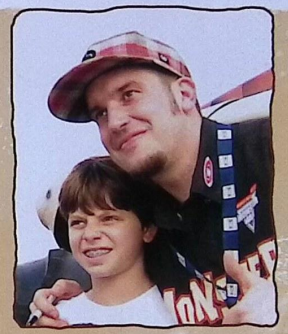
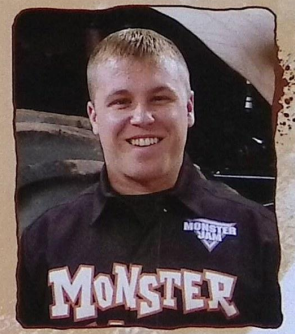
Monster Mutt® puts the WOW in "bow wow." Since its debut in 2004, it's been RUFFing up the competition. Anyone thinking this dog will lie down is barking up the wrong tree. Monster Mutt is a fully customized 1950 Mercury Mutt with its very own flapping ears and wagging tail. This carnage causing canine loves to dig up dirt, and just won its very first Monster Jam World Finals℠ Freestyle championship. Monster Mutt is a true champion and there are no bones about it.





Drivers:

Dana Creech

Joe Miller

MONSTER MUTT® DALMATIAN

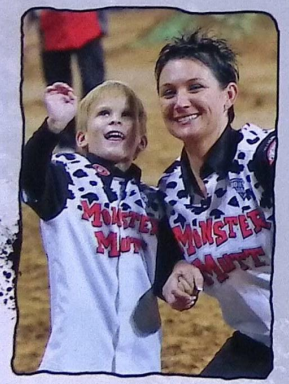
It might be man's best friend, but this 1950 Mercury Mutt pulls out all the tricks just to get a treat. Monster Mutt® dalmatian can be spotted on any Monster Jam track with its black and white signature spots and big floppy ears. The fully customized pup loves to stick its head out the window and feel the breeze as it blows past the competition. Off it's leash and free to roam, dalmatian is one proud pup. Don't let this slobbering canine's cuteness chase you up the wrong tree!



Driver:
Candice Jolly

NITRO CIRCUS®

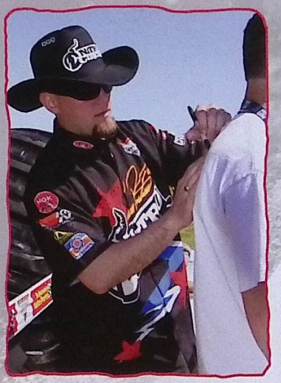
Reckless, wild and always on the lookout for an adventure, Nitro Circus embodies the spirit of the carefree antics of the crew for which it's named. Stepping into the world of Monster Jam® in a Ford F-150 and with red and black deco, you should expect the unexpected with the Travis Pastrana inspired Nitro Circus monster truck. This truck isn't clowning around! It's just looking to get you out of your seat because it's showtime!



Driver:
Cam McQueen

SPIDER-MAN™

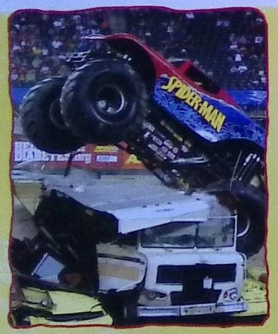
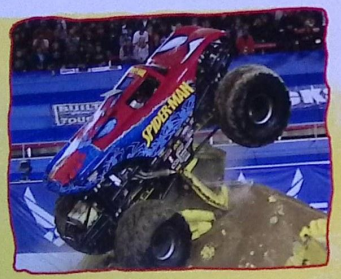
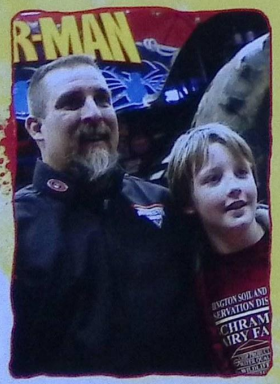
A radioactive spider bite created a superhero and now it's sprung to Monster Jam®. With its spider sense activated, this web-slinging truck darts around the track like nobody's business. Sporting its namesake's classic red and blue color scheme, Spider-Man is a custom concept truck wrapped with painted on webs. Don't worry because this friendly neighborhood Spider-Man always seems to have the opposition trapped in a web.







Driver:
Whit Tarlton

WEBBED WONDER!

SUPERMAN™

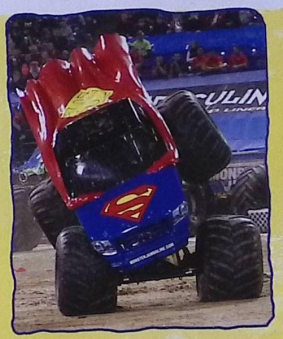
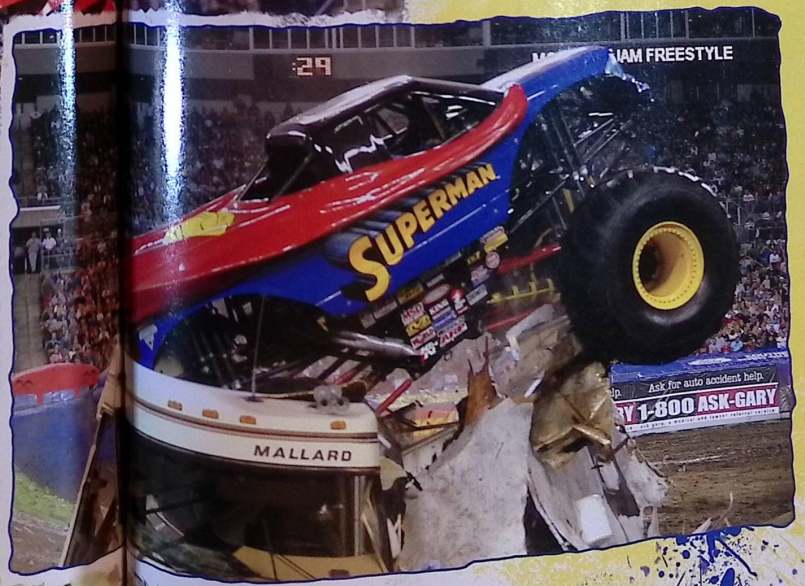
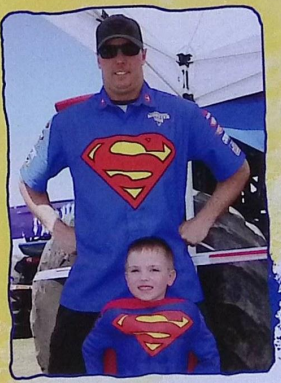
As iconic as one can get, the Superman™ monster truck, suited up in blue, red and yellow, bares all the classic markings of the Man of Steel. This custom concept gets so much air; its cape always seems to blow in the breeze. Way bigger than a bird, but smaller than a plane, the Superman monster truck is always looking for a high-flying adventure and not even Kryptonite can stop it.







Driver:
Chad Fortune

Tasmanian Devil

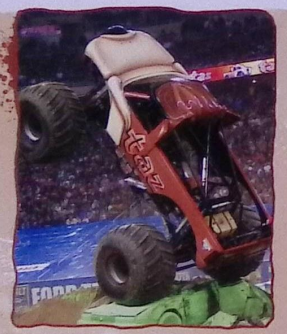
Tasmanian Devil is one of a kind trampling the plains of Monster Jam®. Its biggest kick, and favorite trick for fans, is doing donuts in the dirt. In the midst of performing a cyclone, Taz stirs up so much dust it distracts the competition. No wonder Taz claimed the 2008 Monster Jam World Finals℠ freestyle title. Watch out because this furry menace does bite, just look at those fangs! Who knows which truck will be the next victim!



Driver:
Nicole Johnson

TURTLE POWER!

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES™

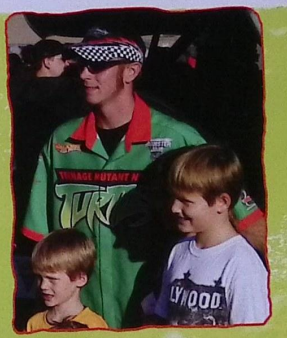
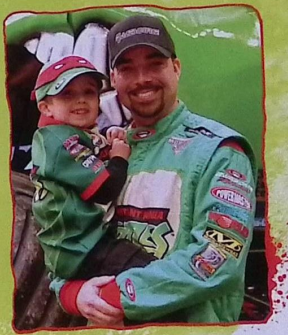
HEROES IN A HALF SHELL, TURTLE POWER! It's time to put down the pizza, get out of the sewer and into a show near you! You'll feel completely shell shocked after seeing this green machine tear it up. This truck may be a custom turtle, but don't let that fool you. This turtle is fast and will speed right by the competition! Cowabunga, dudes!





Drivers:
Aaron Basl
Ryan Huffaker

Driver:
Jim Koehler

AVENGER

MONSTER JAM WORLD FINALS FREESTYLE CHAMPION 2003

Don't get on Avenger's bad side or you will undoubtedly face the consequences. Never afraid to inflict punishment on its competition, this Monster Jam World Finals℠ mainstay took home the 2003 freestyle world championship. Taking to the track in a green 1957 Chevy Bel Air with a flaming logo, Avenger is out to right any wrong.

MONSTER JAM WORLD FINALS FREESTYLE CHAMPION 2005

BOUNTY HUNTER

For over a decade, Bounty Hunter has been chasing down the competition. The 2005 Monster Jam World Finals℠ freestyle champion never fails to capture his target, even taking to the air if he needs to. The monster truck is a 2005 Ford Expedition featuring a ferocious hired gun ready to reap the rewards of another successful job. Don't even try to cross the county line—He's hot on your trail.

Drivers:
Jim Creten
Jay McPherson

Driver:

Becky McDonough

DRAGON'S BREATH

The year 2011 is the year of the dragon in Monster Jam®! Capturing imaginations from around the world for centuries, this mythological creature has finally arrived. A 1953 Corvette painted black and featuring a fire breathing dragon on the side, this menacing monster truck has arrived to torch the competition. Don't stand too close or you might get burned.

Grave Digger
The Legend™

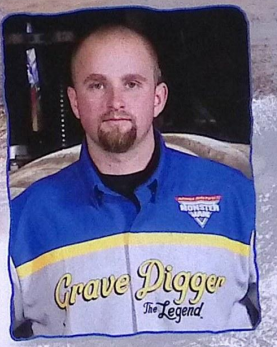
Few names bring as much wild applause to Monster Jam® as Grave Digger® and Grave Digger The Legend™ is sure to add to the growing Grave Digger legacy. With the vintage blue and silver paint job that started it all, Grave Digger The Legend will give older fans déjà vu and young fans a whole new Digger® to get excited about. In a 1951 Ford Panel truck, The Legend will take you back to the early glory days in Kill Devil Hills, North Carolina.



Driver:

Adam Anderson

Driver:
Scott Hartsock

GUNSLINGER

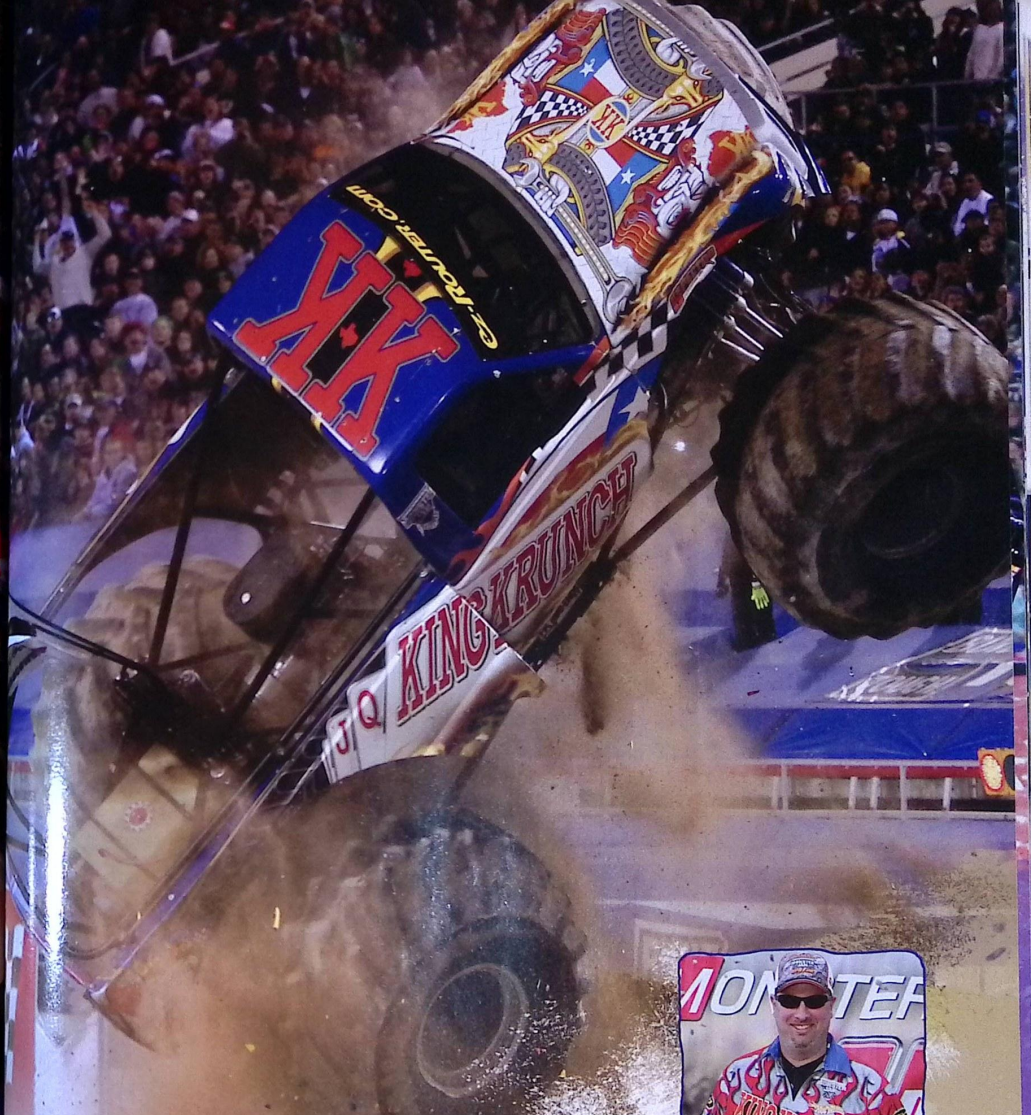
Quick on the draw, don't get stuck in a duel at high noon with Gunslinger. Straight out of the wild west and sporting a bright red and yellow body that features a gunfighter on the hood, this 2002 Ford F-150 is ready for a shootout with it's Monster Jam® opponents. Out of its holster and on the track, this monster truck is a bull's-eye.



Driver:
David Smith

KING KRUNCH

Krunching its foes for nearly 30 years, King Krunch is no stranger to the forefront of Monster Jam®. With intense playing card-like kings emblazoned on the hood and sides, it's a good idea to "bet the house" when King Krunch is on the track. A 2003 Chevy Silverado, this king reigns to serve the Monster Jam faithful.

Driver:
Linsey Weenk

Step back into medieval times with the Lucas Oil Crusader. Armed with a sword-bearing knight on its side, this monster truck is prepared for battle. But don't think this is just some white knight out to save the princess, the Lucas Oil Crusader is looking to defeat its foes and conquer Monster Jam. And with that fierce knight on its side paneling, who is going to tell him otherwise.

MOHAWK WARRIOSM

He's about to enter the battlefield. The warpaint is on and the razor-sharp mohawk stretches to the sky. The Mohawk Warrior℠ is on the loose and the mohawk nation is behind him. All new and shredding up the circuit, the Mohawk Warrior's rebel yell is audible for miles. With a look that sets it apart, you know that there's only one Mohawk Warrior. You have two choices – get out of the way or join the mohawk nation!

Driver:
George Balhan

Driver:
Charles Benns

MONSTER MUTT® ROTTWEILER

The tail may be wagging but this isn't just another lovable canine. With its sharp teeth waiting to take a bite out of the competition, Monster Mutt®, rottweiler has come to rip up Monster Jam®. Brand new to the track in a 1950 Mercury Mutt, rotty looks to continue the impressive results of the Monster Mutt litter. No pound can contain this pup.

SON-UVA DIGGER®

Designed with a malicious skull towering over its fallen victims, Son-uva Digger℠ begins a new chapter in the Grave Digger® story with a brash 21st century attitude. To separate itself from its "proud pop," this black 1948 Willys Panel Truck features an in-your-face design and is looking to carve out its own niche in Monster Jam®. With the Grave Digger name on its side, it seems most likely that beaten opponents will be cursing the name, "Son-uva Digger!"

Driver:
Ryan Anderson

Drivers:
Steve Sims
Darren Migues

Look out, here comes the pulverizing force that is Stone Crusher! Painted on the sides of this 2003 Ford F-250 Super Duty is a wild caveman manically waving his massive club and embodying the spirit of the truck. Recognized as the 2008 Team of the Year at the Monster Jam® Awards Ceremony, Stone Crusher is again ready to pound the competition.

JET QUADS

Red hot and the fastest quads on the course! Get ready for some jet-fueled thrills!

DEMOCROSS

Demolition derby on a race track! This hard-nosed, no-rules competition encourages tapping, spinning, and bumping – and these drivers take the term "love tap" to the extreme! It is a fiery, metal-twisting race to the finish for the last car standing.

ROLLOVER CONTEST

In most Monster Jam® competitions, a rollover means your run may be over – but in this unique contest, it is just beginning! Drivers customize their cars and achieve speeds of up to 40 miles per hour before driving up a narrow ramp and tumbling across the stadium floor. In the end, the driver with the most complete rotations is the winner!

STREET WARRIORS

Only at Monster Jam® can an old junker become a race vehicle. Local entrants can enter their street legal tailgate-slapping, tire-popping junker and run it against the clock on an off-road race course.

UTV RACING

They may be called "Utility Terrain Vehicles", but make no mistake, they are here to race! This cross between a quad and a golf cart has left its maintenance duties behind. No more hauling people and parts – now, speed is the only thing that matters.

FREESTYLE SCORECARD

Advance Auto Parts MONSTER JAM

FREESTYLE SCORING GUIDELINES

Use the guidelines below to judge each monster truck's freestyle run. Enter your score 1-10, 1 being the lowest and 10 being the best. Compare your score to the official scorekeepers to see if you have what it takes to judge these monsters.

The object of being a freestyle judge is to give an accurate score based on how the vehicle performs in the allotted freestyle time. Timing starts when a truck hits it's first obstacle.

Below is the criteria to be considered in order to give an accurate score:

1. Using as many obstacles on the track as possible (Cars, Buses, jumps, etc.)
2. Combinations (multiple tricks using obstacles)
3. Saves (Truck on side without rolling over)
4. Bigger the air, the better the score
5. Donuts (slow/fast)
6. Cyclone Donuts
7. Reverse Donuts
8. Wheelies (Fast/slow & length)
9. Sky Wheelies (height)
10. Vehicle keeps moving throughout the competition.
11. Vehicle performing as many tricks as possible in the given time.
12. Hitting obstacles in reverse.
13. Spectacular stunt (something unexpected)

Deductions:

1. Vehicle backing up without hitting a jump or performing a reverse donut.
2. Vehicle completes the freestyle without using the entire time.

*Once the time has reached zero, a score must be calculated. Any extended truck performance after the allotted time cannot be considered part of the freestyle judging.

*Rollovers should not be considered when deciding final score.
